

JDS forum

1:01 PM on July 13, 2012

Let's explore what the Bible teaches about whether Jesus died spiritually or not.

While on the cross and before Jesus died physically, He cried out, "My God, my God, why have you forsaken me".

I would contend that by definition that Jesus died spiritually right then and there as He was separated from God.

Although Ephesians 4:9 & 10 tell us He descended into Hell, they do not offer any insight into the condition of His spirit.

Acts 2:27 says His soul was not left in Hell, but again nothing about His spirit.

(Soul and Spirit are two things)

So let's dig deeper in the book of John, and see what, if anything we can find about Jesus dying spiritually.

John 5:21 For as the Father raiseth up the dead, and quickeneth [them]; even so the Son quickeneth whom he will.

The word [them] is in italics because it was added by the translators. It should not be there, for the one being quickened is the Son as is hinted to by the next few words. Also, quickens is generally used in reference to giving life to a spirit.

John 12:24 Jesus, speaking of His coming crucifixion, said "Except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone: but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit"

Consider the following:

2 Corinthians 5:21 For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him.

- Notice that He was made to be sin. He didn't just carry our sin, He was made sin.

Acts 26:23 That Christ should suffer, and that he should be the first that should rise from the dead, and should shew light unto the people, and to the Gentiles.

Romans 8:29 For whom he did foreknow, he also did predestinate to be conformed to the image of his Son, that he might be the firstborn among many brethren.

Colossians 1:18 And he is the head of the body, the church: who is the beginning, the firstborn from the dead; that in all things he might have the preeminence.

Revelation 1:5 And from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness, and the first begotten of the dead, and the prince of the kings of the earth. Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood,

These verses refer to being the first to rise from the dead, but didn't many rise from the dead in the Old Testament, and didn't Jesus raise several? Aren't these verses referring to spiritual death?

Read more at <http://www.christianpost.com/news/jesus-was-not-born-again-in-hell-77938/#V9xaU2pqJvW4j7mG.99>

1:01 PM on July 13, 2012

I am actually quite surprised at the answers here... I believe this pastor is wrong and thought more here on godvine knew their Bibles and could show Let's explore what the Bible teaches about whether Jesus died spiritually or not. While on the cross and before Jesus died physically, He cried out, "My God, my God, ...more

I am actually quite surprised at the answers here...

I believe this pastor is wrong and thought more here on godvine knew their Bibles and could show Let's explore what the Bible teaches about whether Jesus died spiritually or not.

While on the cross and before Jesus died physically, He cried out, "My God, my God, why have you forsaken me".

I would contend that by definition, that Jesus died spiritually right then and there as He was separated from God.

However, lets dig deeper.

Although Ephesians 4:9 & 10 tell us He descended into Hell, they do not offer any insight into the condition of His spirit.

Acts 2:27 says His soul was not left in Hell, but again nothing about His spirit.

So let's dig deeper in the book of John, and see what, if anything we can find about Jesus dying spiritually.

John 5:21 For as the Father raiseth up the dead, and quickeneth [them]; even so the Son quickeneth whom he will.

The word them is in italics because it was added by the translators. It should not be there, for the one being quickened is the Son as is hinted to by the next few words. Also, quickens is generally used in reference to giving life to a spirit.

John 12:24 Jesus, speaking of His coming crucifixion, said "Except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone: but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit"

O.K., you probably are not convinced yet so lets see what else we can find.

Consider the following:

2 Corinthians 5:21 For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him.

Notice that He was made to be sin. He didn't just carry our sin, He was made sin.

Acts 26:23 That Christ should suffer, and that he should be the first that should rise from the dead, and should shew light unto the people, and to the Gentiles.

Romans 8:29 For whom he did foreknow, he also did predestinate to be conformed to the image of his Son, that he might be the firstborn among many brethren.

Colossians 1:18 And he is the head of the body, the church: who is the beginning, the firstborn from the dead; that in all things he might have the preeminence.

Revelation 1:5 And from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness, and the first begotten of the dead, and the prince of the kings of the earth. Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood,

These verses refer to being the first to rise from the dead, but didn't many rise from the dead in the Old Testament, and didn't Jesus raise several? Aren't these verses referring to spiritual death?

Read more at <http://www.christianpost.com/news/jesus-was-not-born-again-in-hell-77938/#V9xaU2pqJvW4j7mG.99>